

We Need A Crash Program For Alternative Energy Production NOW

And it should have been done twenty years ago. Stop all new oil exploration. Forget about insanely expensive nuclear plants. End immediately the lunatic military occupations that have cost us trillions. And put everything we've got into an all out push to develop and bring on line truly renewable alternative energy sources.

The burning of fossil fuels was already slowly killing the planet, causing inexorable rises in greenhouse gas levels that have done nothing but accelerate, despite the rampant disinformation campaign waged by oil industry toadies pretending to be real scientists. Now unless we find some way to stop the venting of the entire contents of a gigantic oil field in the Gulf, under 100,000 pounds per square inch of pressure, we may be looking at the end of all marine life on this planet. We have literally punched a hole into hell.

But assuming we by some miracle survive this one, don't you all think it's time to stop serving only the oil industry lobbyists paying you off to continue pursuing bad energy policy, and start doing something to save our country and our world instead? Do you think??
