

Lexi Dillon is a 9-year old American girl who was twice removed by child protective services from the home of her father, a national of Thailand, because of allegations of being raped and sodomized. It is reported that the Tustin (CA) Police Department found overwhelming evidence of this abuse, and yet the father was given full custody of this young child victim.

<http://www.myfoxla.com/story/21420842/lost-in-the-system-custody-fight>

Lexi is currently being confined by handlers hired by the alleged abuser-father, and is in imminent danger of being sent to Thailand to where the father has fled. Indeed, just this last Friday a judge lifted the travel ban in this case.

We are calling on Governor Jerry Brown and Attorney General Kamala D. Harris to immediately take this case away from the Orange County District Attorney, and to do everything possible to ensure that this child victim is not surrendered to an abuser in this case.